UNCOPYABLE

The Indie Audience Lab · by Communitygeeks

Making games got easier. Getting players to care didn't.

We help indie studios find their first players, run useful playtests and work with small creators before launch.

Sound familiar?

Your store page is live. The wishlists barely move.

Your playtesters are friends who won't tell you what's broken.

You're busy making the game. The audience never gets started.

From first players to a community that grows with your game.

Find your people

Find where your potential players gather and how to reach them.

Build with players

Run playtests, collect feedback and show players what changed.

Partner with small creators

Find creators who play games like yours. Give them a build to try.

Give players reasons to return

Share updates. Invite players back with a friend.

Practical templates, real examples and a 30-day action plan.
AI supports the process, not the creative work.

Pilot from December 2026
